

Group Work!

Get in small groups of 2-4. Discuss these questions and come up with answers in your group. Think about what we have discussed in class the past few weeks and consider some of your writing experiences in college. After 20 minutes or so, we will work through the questions as a group.

1. What strategies would you use to work on narrowing down a general topic to a more specific one?
2. What are some things to consider about the audience for your essays? How does this change from audience to audience (use at least a few examples)?
3. What are some questions to consider when deciding if your thesis statement is going to be strong enough?
4. Talk about some of the strategies you are trying for revising the first draft of your paper
5. We will talk about them when we discuss grammar, but what are some of your editing and proofreading concerns so far?
